Monday, November 10. 1707.

London, November 10.

THE Publick have been already so largely entertain'd by our other News-Writers with Relations and Pieces (as well from the Prints as from Letters) about the contested Succession for Neufchatel, that we shall not trespass on their Patience by repeating any thing: But referring to the Postboy of Thursday and to the Postboy and Flying Post of Saturday last, for what came over in the Prints by the last 5 Mails; and to the Postman of Saturday for a Journal (made up out of Letters of several Dates) of the most material Proceedings at Neufchatel to the 31st of October; We shall only offer the 2 following Pieces in Addition to the Accounts given in those Papers.

A Letter from the King of France to the 4 Swiss Cantons that are in Alliance with the Principality of Neufchatel.

LEWIS by the Grace of God King of France and Navarre. Most dear great Friends Allies and Confederates: The particular Alliance which you have with the City and State of Neufchatel, will not let us make a Doubt of your giving Attention to what passes between the Pretenders to that Country. We knowing that our Subjects only have the true Right to that Succession, assure our selves, that being so equitable as you are, you will readily use your good Offices to exclude those whose Pretention is not founded on any sufficient Title. We leave it to your Penetration to judge of the Gallantries they might one Day draw upon that State should they become Masters of it, and we are perswaded you will employ all your Cares to hinder it. Whereupon we assure you of the Continuation of the same Good Will which we have always born towards you. We pray God &c. Written at Fontainebleau the 5th of October in the Year of Grace 1707 and of our Reign the 65th.

LOUIS.

Colbert.

This Letter of the King of France, cannot probably have had any Influence on these Cantons to his Advantage. For by a Letter of the 25th of October from Neufchatel we are told, That M. de Puisieux, Ambassador of France, having written to the said 4 Cantons allied with Neufchatel, to invite them to joyn with him in procuring the Delay which in his Memorials he desir'd of the Tribunal of Neufchatel; and having also sent one of his Secretaries to sollicit those Cantons on that Subject viva voce; the Canton of Berne return'd him a rough Answer, importing, That far from prescribing Rules to the Sovereign Tribunal of Neufchatel, they had nothing else in View, than to support its Liberty and Authority, and maintain all its Sentences, conformably to their Alliance and Comburghership. And the same Canton wrote to the other 3, to hinder them from joyning with the Ambassador of France in his Demands, representing it as a thing intirely injurious to the Liberty of a Sovereign Tribunal.

A Declaration of his Excellency the Count de Metternich. Of the 21st of October 1707.

WE Ernestus de Metternich, Count of the holy Empire, Minister of State Ambassador extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of his Majesty the King of Prussia, taking Notice of the Efforts made by the Ambassador of France to intimidate the People of this State, and divert them from the Justice they owe to the lawful Rights of his Majesty, by Menaces of Contributions and of other Acts of Hostility, tho' it be evident that nothing of that Nature can be attempted, without openly and manifestly violating the Alliance the Crown of France has with the laudable Helvetick Body, of which this Country is indisputably a real Member, Declare, pursuant to the Full Power which we have from the King, and conformably to the verbal Assurances already given by us to several Persons and Communities of the Country, that in Case it happen contrary to all Appearance, that Contributions shall be demanded on the Part of France of any Person of the County of Neufchatel and of Valengin, or that any Attempt be made on their Effects or on any thing that belongs to them, whether by Siezure, Pillage, Burning or otherwise, We engage to reimburse all the Contributions that private Persons or Communities shall be oblig'd to pay to the King of France or his Officers, and to make good to them all the Losses in general that they may suffer on the Part of that Potentate. Besides, his Majesty by becoming Prince of the State of Neufchatel, which is a Part of the laudable Helvetick Body, will in that Quality and by Means of this State do nothing prejudicial to the Engagements of the said Body: And moreover, however things may happen, he will take all convenient and necessary Measures to secure this Country intirely from all Insult. In Testimony whereof, we have caus'd these Presents sign'd with our Hand and corroborated with our usual Seal, to be publish'd at Neufchatel this 21st of October 1707.

Sign'd

METTERNICH.

On this Occasion we take Leave to observe; That the French Court by proceeding at this Time in the Manner they have done, first by insolently threatening the Estates of Neufchatel, and then by putting the Parliament of Bezangon upon impudently declaring that Principality to be united to the Crown of France as a Fief of the County of Burgundy; may probably rouse the Swiss Cantons to berhink themselves of the former incroachments of their haughty Neighbour, and what they may well expect hereafter; and induce them to side with the King of Prussia and his Allies. This apparent Risque which by their fierce Proceedings the

'the Court of France run, of embroiling themselves with the Swifs at this Juncture, is not the first Instance they have given during this War, that if they have more Diligence, they have not more Wildom than other People.
